

Rob Moore

Managing Director

Rob Moore is Managing Director of V-One. He is 39 years old and is married with two children. Having been born in the week that England won the World Cup in 1966 it is no secret who he was named after.

Rob began a life long love of aviation at the age of 13 when he joined the Air Training Corps (ATC). Having flown his first aircraft at the age of sixteen he joined the RAF and trained as an air loadmaster.

The expertise he gained during this time proved beneficial when Rob left the RAF and joined a major European logistics company. After only 18 months he moved into a European Sales role, concentrating on the successful development of air charter business with companies in the automotive sector. His initiative and drive helped improve and establish service levels, resulting in considerable growth of new business.

With the firm belief that they had the right attitude and experience to provide a much better service to their customers, Rob, James Softley and Malcolm Knox established their own company in August 1993. In 2003 their staff, family and key supporters helped them proudly celebrate a very successful 10 years in business. A business which continues to grow to this very day.

Despite the heavy work load that modern day business demands, Rob has never lost his love of flying. He re joined the flying school he frequented whilst in the ATC. He qualified as an instructor, flying at weekends. Unfortunately a back injury has temporarily curtailed his hobby but he hopes to be back in the cockpit someday in the near future.

"It is a privilege to lead the team of people at V-One. In what has become a very competitive industry they have helped, with dedication and hard work, to make our Company a true market leader. V-One has always been about doing what we say we will do, breaking the mould and raising standards. I believe our clients see and appreciate that."
